Subject:	trail contractors

Hey Michael. I wanted to get back with you since you asked about suggestions for trail contractors. I'm actually not that familiar with various contractors. I noticed that the PTBA (Professional Trail Builders Association) has a website www.trailbuilders.org/resources/ where you can get a list of contractors and it shows two listed for the Los Angeles area (local companies may be able to give lower bids). Trails Unlimited LLC and Bell Free Contractors seem to be the best choices for experienced companies doing trail work. Other companies are listed that may be better even though they are based farther away. Anyway, hope this helps.
